

Kaizen Design Studio - Terms And Conditions

The information/data provided in kaizendesignstudio.com is given only for general information purposes. The data provided here is complete as per our knowledge. However, we do not make any guarantees or warranties, implied or expressed, regarding the completion and updation of the said data. We are not to be held liable and responsible for the Content (text, pictures, videos, graphics, codes, etc.) of the website. By visiting and using this website in any form, you and the person/organization/legal entity you represent are agreeing upon the terms and conditions set for the usage of this website. If you do don't agree with the terms & conditions, please exit the website, or any other web pages related to the website.

Kaizen Design Studio reserves the right to change, modify, remove, or add content or tabs to the website or make changes to the terms & conditions without any prior intimation at a time of choosing. Your continued use of the website will be regarded as your consent to our terms and conditions. Kaizen Design Studio also does not guarantee of the accuracy, completeness, performance, and suitability of the given information. Therefore, we are not to be held liable or responsible for it. We may make corrections to the content, but we are not legally required to do so. Making corrections will be purely at our discretion. We also hold the right to block or restrict access to certain IP addresses we deem to be unfit for access. If you do don't agree with the terms & conditions, please exit the website, or any other web pages related to the website.

